

Defeat of School Bill Is Blamed on Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said today President Eisenhower is greatly disappointed that the House failed to pass a school aid bill.

The President's views were given to newsmen by associate press secretary Anne Whitely less than 24 hours after the House killed a 1½ billion dollar school aid bill about which Eisenhower himself had expressed some misgivings.

When a reporter told Mrs. Whitely that Eisenhower has been sharply criticized on the ground he failed to give strong support to the legislation she said:

"The President has expressed great disappointment that the House did not see its way clear to pass a measure to meet this critical shortage of school."

Asked in what way the President expressed his disappointment, Mrs. Whitely replied:

"I am expressing it for him."

Mrs. Whitely did not say whether Eisenhower had expressed his displeasure to Republican leaders of Congress, but she said "I assume that perhaps there was discussion along that line" in the President's breakfast conversation today with Sen. Knowland, the Senate Republican leader.

Eisenhower had said before yesterday's vote that he was not fully satisfied with the compromise school aid bill, but would accept it. The measure, defeated by a five-vote margin, differed in several major respects from an administration bill that would have provided $1,200,000,000 in school construction aid to the states.

Earlier, Rep. Kelley (D-Pa.), author of the school aid bill, had blamed the President for its defeat.

Other Democratic supporters joined him in partisan criticism, but two Republicans who also favored the bill disagreed.

"I lay defeat of the bill squarely at the feet of the President," Kelley told a reporter.

"I think if he had come out with a strong statement we could have won—we only lost by five votes."

On the other side, Rep. Frelinghuysen (R-N.J.), a strong backer of the bill, said, "I think the President did all he reasonably could."

And Rep. McConnell (R-Pa.), GOP floor leader for the bill, blamed "a combination of things" for the measure's second defeat in two years.

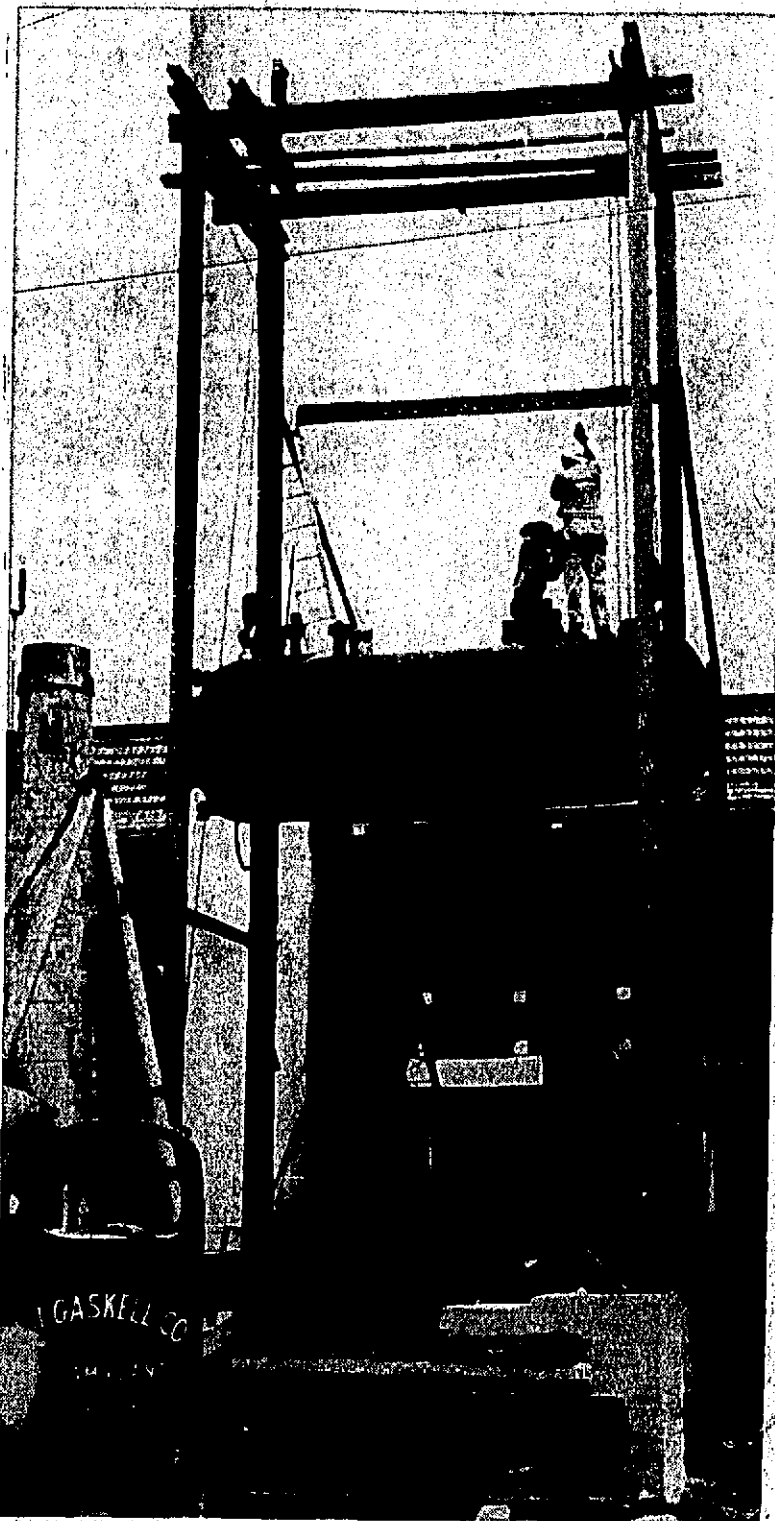

Eisenhower has made a federal school aid program a major plank in his legislative platform for several years. But he let it be known earlier this week he was "not entirely satisfied" with the bill the House was considering, although he would sign the measure if Congress passed it.

After the House vote yesterday, press secretary James C. Hagerly said the White House would have no comment.

out the enacting clause of the House adopted a motion by Rep. Howard W. Smith (D-Va.) to strike out the enacting clause of the bill-in effect, kill it.

That vote confirmed an earlier tentative vote, 153-126, to kill the bill.

Fund Juggling of Unions Under Probe

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate rackets probes sought today to find out what one senator called "hidden ball trick" juggling of union funds by the two top officers of the United Textile Workers.

UTW President Anthony Valente and Secretary-Treasurer Lloyd Klenert swore yesterday the only union money they used for themselves was $57,000 to help buy plush new homes, they described that transaction as being, in a sense, a favor of their union.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD) called the home deal "a hidden ball trick."

Valente and Klenert then told of borrowing more than $100,000—some of it at interest rates and fees aggregating 19 per cent—to reimburse the union.

Valente insisted, as Klenert had done before him, they did not need the money. He said they used $37,000 of union money as down payments on their homes as a "service" to conceal from dissident union members that this much was available for organizing.

"It's the most natural way to live. It's not so far removed from reality."

Hope One of Many Seeking Tech School

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Board of Education says the deadline on applications for a proposed new vocational-technical school is next Thursday.

Eight Arkansas cities have submitted applications for the school authorized by the 1957 Legislature.

A dozen other communities have indicated they will apply.

The school would offer non-academic training to persons over 16.

Although the Legislature authorized a school for each of the state's six congressional districts, only $500,000 was appropriated—enough to construct and equip one school.

The board has received applications from Conway, Hope, Fayetteville, Magnolia, Newport, Paragould, Pine Bluff and Little Rock.

Communities which have indicated they will apply for the school are Blytheville, Booneville, Osceola, Benton, Bauxite, Camden, Helena-West Helena, Ozark, Russellville and Malyorn.

Saltonstall, chairman of the Republican conference, said he expected the Senate to reach a vote on the jury trial issue by Tuesday.

Saltonstall said he expects most Republicans to oppose a jury trial amendment although he added that "no effort was made to bind anyone. No effort was made to tell anyone how to vote."

Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.), who helped sponsor the move to limit the largely to voting rights, said he thinks the decision on a jury trial amendment will be close.

Russell Hints Filibuster in 'Rights' Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Russell (D-Ga.) said today Southern senators will use "every weapon in our arsenal" to defeat the civil rights bill unless a jury trial amendment is adopted.

His unmistakable notice of a filibuster—although he didn't use the word—was sounded after President Eisenhower sent word to Republican senators he opposes this or any other major change in the bill's section on voting rights.

The administration measure already has been stripped by a 59-34 Senate vote of a section to empower the attorney general to seek federal court injunctions to enforce civil rights other than voting privileges.

The big issue now, as the Senate nears the end of a third week of debate on the House-passed bill, is whether to require jury trials in some contempt of court cases arising from the enforcement of voting rights under another section of the legislation.

Russell, leader of the Dixie forces fighting the bill, said after a conference in his office that the Southern senators would support a jury trial amendment more limited in scope than they would like.

He said the Southern senators' all-contempt cases arising under the legislation. But he added that as "practical men," they realize that an amendment limiting jury trials to cases involving criminal penalties has "wider support."

For that reason, Russell said the Southern senators would support an amendment offered by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) even though "it doesn't go nearly as far" as they would like.

But Russell said that if the Senate should refuse to write in a jury trial amendment, "we would resort to every means at our command to every weapon in our arsenal to try to defeat the bill."

He told reporters earlier the "closed meeting" attended by 30 Southern senators that he thought their stand in that respect was "generally understood."

After a separate conference of all Republican senators, Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) said Eisenhower or sent word he wants the bill's right to vote section approval without major change.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Senate GOP leader, brought this word to the conference after a White House breakfast with Eisenhower.

Saltonstall, chairman of the Republican conference, said he expected the Senate to reach a vote on the jury trial issue by Tuesday.

Saltonstall said he expects most Republicans to oppose a jury trial amendment although he added that "no effort was made to bind anyone. No effort was made to tell anyone how to vote."

Because of the inability of the Presbyterian Church to secure a pastor permission was graciously granted by the session. The group started the services of a student teacher from Ouachita Baptist College and were given use of the Presbyterian Church.

Under leadership of J. P. Frazier, mission of the First Baptist Church of Arkadelphia was organized in a few months. Six members comprised this Mission which grew under Mr. Frazier's

29-Inch Rain in Japan Leaves 253 Dead, 800 Missing

TOKYO (AP) — A violent storm which in 24 hours dumped 29 inches of rain in low-lying, thickly populated areas of Japan's southernmost major island left at least 253 persons dead today and more than 800 missing or unaccounted for.

There were 106 known injured. Tokyo newspaper correspondents radioed from the flood area on Kyushu Island that at least 1,000 persons died in the city of Itoya, 15 miles northeast of Nagasaki, and that scores may have perished in Omura, a port a few miles away.

A reporter who flew over the area said Itoya, a mountain-ringed city of 57,000, looked "like a new sea" with only a few high points and roofs visible above the water.

"It seemed like someone had dumped the contents of a lake on us from a giant barrel," said one Itoya survivor who was dragged to safety from the debris-choked river that flooded and poured over the city.

Railroads were washed out or blocked by landslides. Highways were closed. Thousands of homes were washed away or flooded. The 29-inch rainfall was one of the worst rainstorms in Japan's recorded weather. The rain and accompanying violent lightning disrupted communications, leaving many areas isolated except for intermittent radio contact.

The storm began Thursday morning, let up for a few hours late in the day, and then—in the words of one survivor at Itoya: "Suddenly an angry bolt of lightning cut the sky. Pounding thunder followed. Then the rains came. Not just by buckets full. It seemed like someone had dumped the contents of a lake on us from a giant barrel."

As the rain increased, floodwaters began pouring through Itoya. Yasujiro Tsuchikawa said he watched "the dim outlines of broken houses and buses drifting by like a procession of ghosts."

Chikara Imasato, 25, the first evacuee brought to Nagasaki, said "I lived through hell. The flood reached the ceiling of my house in a few moments. Cascading rain mingled with deafening thunder."

Blast Set Off by Expert Kills 3 Persons

PITTSBURGH (AP) — An explosives expert blasted himself and his estranged wife to death in their parked auto last night. The explosion also claimed the life of an 8-year-old girl happily flicking an ice cream bar.

Seven other passers-by were injured in the blast, which rocked the North Side business section about one mile from midtown.

The dead are Arthur DePew, 29, his wife Elaine, 12, and Linda Kraus.

Linda's 11-year-old sister Johan was hurled through a store window and suffered multiple cuts.

The children's grandfather Frank Funza, 55, suffered a hip fracture. He and Joan were the only persons admitted to a hospital, and officials said both are expected to recover.

The blast "shocked modestly" and broke windows in a wide area.

DePew, a blaster for a construction firm on a sewage tunnel project here, parked his car just a few minutes before he met his wife in a pre-arranged reconciliation attempt. The couple talked a few minutes, entered the car and then came the blast.

Assistant Police Supt. Lawrence Maloney said, "There's no question about it—it's a clear case of murder and suicide."

Building in Egypt Falls and 63 Die

CAIRO (AP) — A five-story building collapsed last night on 200 persons celebrating a wedding, killed 63 and injured 32.

Fatma, the veiled bride in a white wedding dress, was among those killed. Her bridegroom Mansour Abdel Hamid was seriously injured.

Police said the two lower floors of the house were more than 70 years old and the government ordered them pulled down two years ago. Instead the owner changed the order and added three more stories. The building was sited on a lane six yards wide in the popular Dab el Ahmar residential district.

Women and children were among the dead and injured.

Various jury trials proposals have been advanced. Russell said he expects Southern foes of the bill to throw their support behind one offered by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.), providing for jury trials in criminal contempt cases.

Russell said that O'Mahoney's amendment "is not entirely satisfactory to me" because he feels a jury trial should be granted in all contempt cases, civil as well as criminal, arising under the legislation.

Bilko's Aid Heading for Movie Career

By JAMES BACON
HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Joe E. Ross is headed for a bigtime movie career because of a hat.

The name Joe E. Ross may not mean much in Dubuque, Iowa, or Snow Shoe, Pa., unless you identify him as Mess Sgt. Rumpelstiltskin, the No. 1 pigeon of Sgt. Bilko on the Phil Silvers' TV show.

Ross, a character right out of Damon Runyon, just completed his first movie in Hollywood. He's costarring with Hal March and Merry Anders in "Hear Me Good," a comedy written, produced and directed by Don McGuire. Here's where the hat comes in.

"Paramount wanted Art Carney to do the part," Ross explains, "but McGuire wanted me. McGuire argued that Carney isn't funny without a hat on. Paramount argued that I always wore a hat on the Bilko show so how could I be funny without one."

The fact of course, doesn't require funny hats so to settle the argument, McGuire and the Paramount brass decided to watch the next Bilko show.

"Just by luck," says Ross, "it was the show where my wife threatens to leave me if I don't quit losing bets to Bilko. Most of it was shown in our quarters and I had no hat on. I got the part. Isn't that funny how a little thing like that could determine a break in a career? I hate to think of what would have happened if Carney had ever come in Gleason's apartment on the Gleason show and taken his hat off."

Ross scored in "Hear Me Good" and now Paramount wants him back to play Yul Brynner's comedy sidekick in "The Buccaneer." It's a role which is all through the picture.

A coroner's inquest held the mishap was unavoidable.

Tuskegee Under Probe in Boycott

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP)—The Tuskegee Civic Association which has been closely identified with the six-week-old Negro boycott of white Tuskegee merchants, is under investigation by the state attorney general's office.

Atty. Gen. John Patterson said last night his staff has questioned about 25 Negro leaders here the past two days in connection with the investigation, which has been going on for 10 days.

The attorney general didn't indicate whether he plans to "take any legal action to halt the boycott."

Negroes started boycotting white merchants after a local act was passed by the state legislature to revise the Tuskegee city limits, excluding all except 10 of 420 Negro voters.

Patterson didn't say whether he plans to inquire into reports of threats being made against Negroes who have continued to patronize white merchants.

Republicans Finally Rid of Joe Smith

WASHINGTON (AP)—The mythical Joe Smith who was unceremoniously banished from the 1956 Republican convention has now been virtually written out of the party.

At least so it would appear from an examination of the official record of the proceedings, released yesterday by the GOP National Committee.

The now famous utopian of Convention Chairman Joe Martin—"You take your Joe Smith and get out of here"—is nowhere to be found in this account of the San Francisco proceedings.

There also is no mention of the fact that delegate Terry Carpenter of (Scottsbluff) Nebraska was elected from the convention hall after he tried to nominate Smith for vice president.

Carpenter reappeared shortly, confessing to newsmen that Joe was an imaginary fellow and saying he's tried to nominate him only to enliven "a pretty dull show."

The official record does record this exchange between Martin and Carpenter:

"Mr. Terry Carpenter, delegate from Nebraska—We are going to nominate Joe Smith."

"The permanent chairman—Joe—who?"

"Mr. Terry Carpenter of Nebraska—Joe Smith," (laughter).

Millbrook, N.Y., and a 200-acre estate on Martha's Vineyard, where he likes to spend the summer just watching the grass grow.

Jimmy takes his farming seriously. He's trying to cross-breed Scottish highland cattle with conventional dairy cows to produce cattle "that need no barning and no winter feeding."

"The goal is a cow with a built-in thermometer," he said.

Cagney looked mildly offended when asked if he could milk a cow himself.

"I've done it," he said. "It's a darned good thing to know when the power goes out."

Jimmy has just completed "Man of a Thousand Faces," a Universal-International film that tells the life story of Lon Chaney, who, like Cagney himself, began his career as a hooper.

"In order to be a hooper," he remarked, "there has to be something the matter with you. Nobody else would be in a theater at 8 a.m. day after day, beating his brains out with his feet. But I see myself as a supernaturally strong and dance man, really."

One reason may be the fact that, although he has played a wide variety of dramatic roles, it was portrayal of George M. Cohan in "Yankee Doodle Dandy" that won him an Academy Award.

Like many veteran performers ruled by a real understanding of showmanship rather than egotism or vanity, Cagney now limits himself to no more than two films a year.

"It's a great mistake to show the face too often," he said. "Let them see you too often, and I don't care who the individual is, he'll go by the boards."

"Show business has changed a lot. Going to a show in the old days was an event, and it meant more to be a heel than a star."

"The illusion was greater, both for the performer and the audience. There was more glamor."

and the screams of the dying, I don't know how I managed to swim in the swirling waters."

A fisherman picked up Yokoyama, 20, clinging to a piece of lumber at sea 15 miles from shore. "I don't remember anything except that the water snatched me away all of a sudden," she told rescuers.

The Japanese navy and coast guard sent 13 fast patrol boats and landing vessels to the area to speed rescue work. The U. S. Navy sent a helicopter to Kyushu and the U. S. Air Force ordered two more to the flood area.

Expressway Is Opened at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — City officials gathered for a ceremony to open the long-awaited La Harpe Boulevard, an expressway designed to ease Little Rock's rush hour traffic problems.

A ribbon was snipped and cars started pouring onto the new route which still is only partially finished.

Then, police officials said, the worst traffic jam in the city's history began developing.

The record choral of automobiles lasted for nearly an hour and a half yesterday afternoon. Even the police were confused as motorists wandered through a maze of unfamiliar traffic signs and lights.

Patrolman Gene Adcock said he had to cruise around on his motorcycle for 10 minutes before he could figure out how to start directing traffic.

But Capt. L. V. Witherspoon of the Traffic Department heard one gay note in the nerve-racking chorus of horn blasts, groans and complaints.

A woman driver who was trying to get off the expressway had taken a complicated route which brought her right back to the boulevard.

Passing Capt. Witherspoon, she yelled:

"It's like going around the maypole — this is fun."

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — In a impressive ceremony, city officials yesterday opened a new expressway designed to cut down traffic problems during the afternoon rush hour.

Minutes later, police said, the worst traffic jam in Little Rock's history had developed.

Traffic officers were as confused as the hundreds of motorists groping through a maze of unfamiliar traffic signs and lights along the 16-block expressway.

"I had to ride around on my motorcycle for 10 minutes before I could even figure out how to direct traffic," said Patrolman Gene Adcock.

British Warn Air Raids to Be Stepped Up

By TOM MASTERSON
MANAMA, Bahrain (AP) — The British threatened today to step up their air strikes against rebellious tribesmen in Muscat and Oman unless the rebels stop their fight against the British-ruled Sultan.

"If the rebels don't give up, a responsible British source said, 'the air attacks will be increased considerably.'"

The first strike against the dissident tribesmen was carried out Wednesday and followed yesterday.

The RAF said its venom fighter-bombers hit an apparently empty fort used by the rebels at Izki with Canon fire and rockets. Yesterday's no truck rebel headquarters, barracks and other buildings in the Nizwa area.

Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd told Parliament in London that only military targets had been attacked by the RAF and only after advance warning was given.

"So far as we know," Lloyd added, "no casualties have taken place."

But in Cairo a spokesman for the Oman rebels said the RAF was continuing to shower bombs and rockets on Nizwa and declared "many civilians were killed and injured."

Mohammed al Harsy, representative of the rebel religious leader, Imam Ghaleb bin Ali, said British planes made 24 sorties over Nizwa yesterday and that houses were hit.

The RAF has grouped about 25 jet planes at its base in Sharjah, on the coast of Trucial Oman, for the attacks against the rebels.

or" — his eyes twinkled — "is this merely age talking?"

"Perhaps it is. But although actors have more work now than when I was first knocking around, it also seems to me that they rate it more like work. They are more impersonal and business-like. They don't seem to have the enthusiasm — the sense of personal illusion — the kids had in the old days."

"I guess this must be age talk."

DOROTHY DIX

In-Laws Make Prisoner of Serviceman's Wife

Dear Dorothy Dix: My husband is in service overseas and has another year to go. We were married just before he left and only had a few days together before his departure. I'm living with his people. I can't go anywhere unless one of the family is with me. I can't even visit my people, although they only live a mile from here. What can I do? — DOLLY

Dear Dolly: Who is watching your husband while the in-laws watch you?

Since there is no law compelling you to live with your husband's people, you can walk out the front door any time you like. If that's padded, try the window.

Surely your own parents would take you in, you can easily get a job if you don't have one already, so why stand for the prisoner bit? Beat the in-laws to the punch and write hubby that you're striking out for yourself.

Show him with cheerful, pleasant letters stressing the fact that you miss him and are counting the days till his return. Don't complain about his folks; just say you aren't happy with them, and are doing much better with your own people. Much luck.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I've been a widow for over a year and am going with a fine man I knew several years ago. He's asked me to marry him, but I hesitate because of another friend, Lloyd, a married man with whom I am deeply in love. Lloyd doesn't want to be the one to make the break with his wife; so he's asked me to wait. I'm afraid he'll just drag the af-

Farmers Have 5 Days to Pay Off Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department called to growers' attention today that they have only five more days in which to pay off loans and reclaim 1956-57 cotton stored under its price support program.

The department plans to take title to cotton still under loan Aug. 1. It will pay growers the difference — if any — between the loan and the market price on that day.

fair out and that he never will consider divorcing his wife. What should I do? — PAULINE

Dear Pauline: You're smart to realize that nothing will come of your love for Lloyd, but foolish to hang onto even a thread of hope. In your present frame of mind, it would be unwise to marry anyone. Lloyd holds first place in your heart, and until you can dispossess him, there's a percentage in considering anyone else. Break with Lloyd, learn to live without him, then consider remarriage.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a very nice guy and liked by everyone. My father is dead and his mother is very strict with him. She likes me, I know, but never allows him to do anything I want or go where I'd like to go. I'm missing lots of fun because of this. — B. B.

Dear B. B.: You wanted a nice guy and you have one. Why is he so well-liked, so well-behaved? Because that's the way his mother brought him up. She has a serious responsibility and she seems to have succeeded admirably so far. Give her admiration and respect instead of complaints.

If you would rather be in — on all the fun, get another steady. If you can be satisfied with a fine young man, stick it out with Vinie. You'll never regret it.

Dear Dorothy Dix: When I go out with my sweetheart, who is a sailor, and we meet other Navy men, they look at me and say "Hi," though we've never met. My boy friend doesn't like this. I'm a very good-looking girl and have always attracted men. — LORA

Dear Lora: Men who can't stand competition should get girls who won't attract it. A "very good-looking" girl is bound to get second looks from passers-by. You should go with a more tolerant escort.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm 22, my husband is 25. He's the happy-go-lucky type and I'm quiet and unassuming. We have our own home, car, lovely furniture, an adorable three-year-old daughter and two fine families. From that picture you would think life was a bowl of cherries. However, some months ago my husband became moody, irritable and finally asked for a final separation. As we discussed the situation the real reason for his unhappiness came to light — he had been seeing another girl!

While he told the story he realized how wrong he was and promised never to betray my trust again. We made a new start and I must admit he's been everything he used to be — devoted, cheerful, patient. However I find a change in my attitude toward him. When he comes home I find myself wondering 'Did he see her today?' Until I convince myself that the brief affair is really over, I'll never feel the same. — JONI

Dear Joni: I doubt if any husband who has been casually and briefly unfaithful has any conception of the cruel hurt he has caused a man feels it should be wiped off the slate. It would be good if this could be done. However, with the vast majority of wives, it cannot be forgotten for a long time. You are by no means unique in your reaction.

For consolation let me offer these facts. We are all prone to error; we all need forgiveness at some time. It was your husband's confidence in your power to understand (you describe yourself as an "understanding" person) and forgive that prompted his confession. He could have kept it to himself and you would never have been the wiser. Now, are you going to prove worthy of that trust or not?

Dear Dorothy Dix: My girl friend and I, both 18, have been dating for a year and a half. We do not neck often, but whenever we do we are unsure how far we should allow ourselves to go. We agree there must be a limit, but where? — H. O.

Dear H. O.: Petting and necking are progressive. You rarely stop where you left off, and seldom keep a self-imposed limit. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, The Petting Problem. It contains the information you need.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a girl of 18, married and expecting a baby soon. My husband, who is the same age, leaves me at night to run around with youngsters of 14 and 15. What should I do to keep him home? — LOLLY

Dear Lolly: You married a half-grown child and he's behaving according to schedule. Since you can't make him realize he now has responsibilities, perhaps you can induce someone else to do the convincing — one of your parents, or your clergyman.

Dear Dorothy Dix: Recently I had a date with a boy I like very much. I haven't had many dates, but would very much like another one with him. I was rather shy with him. In fact, I forgot to thank him for the nice time I had. Was I very inconsiderate to forget to thank him? — GERRY

Dear Gerry: You aren't supposed to thank a boy for taking you out but you should convey the fact that you had fun with him. Send him one of these gay, comic greeting cards so popular today. It needn't fit any special occasion — just say what a nice time you had.

One look, one ride, and you'll find more to be proud of in a Chevrolet. No other low-priced car quite comes up to it for fine finishing touches—and sweet, smooth and sassy performance.

This one wants you to get choosy! The fussier you are, the more Chevy can show what it's got inside, outside and in performance.

Take the solid way a Chevy is built. It's the only car in its field with Body by Fisher —sturdily put together, with a look of substance other cars in its price class haven't quite captured. Everywhere you look, fine finishing touches confirm the craftsmanship that goes into a Chevrolet.

Chevrolet's response and performance are pretty special, too. There's a well-what-are-we-waiting-for spirit in the engine, especially when you show a Chevrolet a mountain. And you'll do a lot of looking to find comparable smoothness, steadiness and nimbleness on the road. If you do find them, you'll be in the high-altitude prices—for sure. McDonald Finds End He Can't Circle

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Back Tom McDonald, who scored 15 touchdowns for Oklahoma last season, has finally found an end he can't detour around.

McDonald was one of the standouts in yesterday's continuing drills of the collegiate All Stars for their game in Soldier Field Aug. 9 against the National Football League champion New York Giants.

The Oklahoma runner, at 171 pounds the lightest milt on the squad, tried to scout past Lamar Lundy, 6 feet 5 inch end from Purdue.

"That Lundy has the biggest hands I ever saw," said McDonald. "He put one of them over my face as I went around and it covered my face and helmet. I couldn't even see daylight."

One Game Separates Four Teams for National Lead

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Get out that shoe horn again because five clubs are all trying to squeeze into first place today in what promises to be the National League's tightest finish since 1908.

The Cardinals added to the hot-neck when they moved within a half-game of first place by beating Brooklyn, 3-2, last night, and the Redlegs closed to within a game of the lead with a 9-1 victory over Pittsburgh.

That left things so that only one game separates the first four clubs — Milwaukee, St. Louis, Brooklyn and Cincinnati — with fifth-place Philadelphia climbing to within only 2 1/2 games of the top as a result of a 5-3 decision over the Braves.

All of which is reminiscent of the 1908 N. L. pennant struggle which wound up with only one game separating the first three clubs. Maybe that's why first were born but your granddaddy will tell you the Cubs took the whole box of pretzels that year when Fred Merkle of the Giants neglected to touch second base.

Getting back to the present race, though, the Cards threw a monkey wrench in Brooklyn's plans to take over the league lead last night when they beat Don Newcombe for the first time in seven years at St. Louis.

Newcombe and Merfyn Williams were tied at 2-2 until the Cards cracked through for the winning run in the eighth on singles by Alvin Bark and Stan Musial and Wally Poon's sacrifice fly.

Art Fowler, Cincinnati, who hadn't won a game this season until last Sunday, went the distance for the first time this year in checking the Pirates on seven hits. In addition, he drove in the Redlegs' first two runs with a bases-loaded single off loser Ronnie Kline.

Robin Roberts of the Phillies scored his first victory since June 6, in beating the raves: Roberts gave up nine hits, including Hank Aaron's 10th homer in the fourth inning to post his seventh victory against 13 defeats.

Mike McCormick, 18-year-old bonus southpaw, won his first major league game in pitching the Giants to a 5-2 triumph over the Cubs. McCormick struck out seven and gave up six hits.

In the American League, the White Sox shaved the Yankees' lead to 3-1/2 games with a 6-2 triumph over the world champions; Boston defeated Kansas City, 5-3; Washington edged Cleveland, 3-2 in 10 innings; and Baltimore blanked Detroit, 3-0.

Dick Donovan was the whole show in the White Sox victory, holding the Yankees to four hits and contributing a seventh-inning homer. The triumph for Donovan as his 10th and it followed a one-hit shutout over the Red Sox last Saturday.

Bob Porterfield, making only his fourth start of the year, held the Athletics to six hits, including a homer by Lou Skizas, as the Red Sox beat Kansas City for the 14th time in 18 games this season.

Ed Fitz Gerald's single in the 10th scored Roy Sievers from second with the run that gave Washington its first victory over Mike Garcia in two years. Russ Kemmerer went all the way for the Senators, giving up eight hits to register his fifth victory.

Lanky Connie Johnson of the Orioles limited Detroit to five hits in achieving his eighth victory and third shutout of the season.

Unlawful River Bridge Must Be Changed

CIJOLA, Ariz. (AP) — There are going to be some changes made in that "unlawful" bridge which some Arizona farmers flung across the Colorado River.

Recovering from its surprise upon learning that the bridge is there, the Army Corps of Engineers cracked down on the builders today with this ultimatum: "The bridge will be modified to provide adequate vertical and horizontal clearance compatible with navigation interest, or a section of the bridge will be removed pending such modification."

The 410-foot span was built by nine farmers 20 miles south of Blythe, Calif., and 40 miles north of Yuma, Ariz., at a cost of $50,000. They ignored the half-dozen federal and state agencies that are supposed to be consulted about building bridges across navigable rivers.

Business has been great. The builders have been collecting tolls of $1 on cars and $2 on trucks moving over the bridge at the rate of $500 to $600 a month. A manganese mine is hauling 130 tons of ore daily to a government stockpile. The farmers' cotton and grain crops are going to market over the bridge.

But the second time we fought, but you never can get out, you wait and wait for the shot which he keeps you busy blocking punches instead of taking the lead.

And he's not as easy to hit as it looks. His motion is so perfect, especially for a heavyweight.

Three Baseball Games Slated Here Tonight

Three baseball games are on tap for tonight at local parks. The Hope Legionnaires will meet the Arkadelphia Red Sox at 8 o'clock at Legion field.

At 8 p.m. two Pony League games will be played, the first at 8:30 p.m., and the second at 8:15 p.m. Last night the Hope All-Stars of the Little League played a pre-district warmup game against the Texarkana Cowboys and came out with a decisive 8 to 1 victory.

Lawyer Says Security Firm in Good Shape
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — An attorney for Southwest Securities, Inc., of Little Rock says the firm, defendant in a suit alleging insolvency, is "in excellent financial condition and will continue to do business in Arkansas."

Edwin E. Dunaway, Little Rock attorney, said yesterday in making the statement for Allan Goldsmith, president and principal stockholder of Southwest Securities.

Dunaway said Goldsmith had gone to Florida "for several weeks" but would return to Little Rock soon in view of the suit.

Arkansas Glass & Container Corp., of Jonesboro filed the suit in Pulaski Chancery Court Tuesday. It seeks $3,000 for alleged indebtedness and asks that a receiver be appointed.

Dunaway said an allegation in the suit that Goldsmith was "controlling" company assets was "absolutely false."

Business Side of Sports Is Under Probe

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER
WASHINGTON (AP) Rep. Celler (D-N.Y.) said today a House investigation has convinced him the business side of professional sports "certainly must" be placed under anti-trust laws.

Caller heads the House Antitrust subcommittee, which is inquiring into the legal status of major league baseball, football, basketball and ice hockey.

Hearings, now in the football stage, recessed yesterday after a group of past and present grid gridders testified that pro football's player draft is essential to the sport.

The subcommittee plans to hear from other players and President George Halas of the Chicago Bears after the inquiry resumes next Wednesday. Commissioner Bert Bell of the National Football League also will be called back for additional testimony.

Baseball witnesses already have appeared before the subcommittee. Celler said they had exhibited more of a "holier than thou" attitude than NFL spokesmen.

The long-time representative from Brooklyn reacted indignantly to a statement by a co-owner Dan Topping of the New York Yankees that no other American League team could move into New York.

If the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers take their National League franchises to the West Coast, New York would be left with one club — the Yanks.

Caller said that situation would be "barbarous." He said "topping's statement reflects a 'nationalistic' attitude that makes it 'imperative' to provide antitrust laws to cover the business side of baseball."

Caller has introduced a bill that, in effect, would extend federal antitrust jurisdiction to all professional team sports. Some Congress members have said that would jeopardize such practices as the NFL draft and the reserve clause common in one form or another sports contracts.

Caller declined to say whether he believes the investigation so far demonstrates his bill is the only solution. But he did say the "business aspects" of sports must be covered by anti-monopoly statutes.

Loss and Gain

The older man is saying, "I have worked hard to make this farm pay. But I wonder if that is enough. What is ahead... how much loss and how much gain? He has asked this minister to explain it all. What does it profit a man if he gains the whole world and loses his own soul? Things do not satisfy. Man is a spiritual creature. He cannot be content with food and shelter. He was made for fellowship with God and his soul will always be hungry until he knows that he is a son of God and learns to walk with the Eternal Spirit. He must go forward with Christ. He must go to church and live in daily consciousness of the favor and blessing of his God. As he sharpens his tools to lose or gain, so must he sharpen his mind and his heart for God. Any business will pay when God is the senior partner.

Sunday School Lesson

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

On this date many Sunday schools will be studying a lesson about Gideon and his small band of warriors.

But I should like to write a little about another band, much smaller, but quite as amazing in faith and courage.

They, too, have left a great heritage, though much of the simplicity that they represented soon became overcast by more complex organization and associations of church and state.

I refer to the Pilgrim Fathers, who came to Plymouth on the little ship, "The Mayflower," in 1620. Actually, these Pilgrims were not "fathers."

For, like many religious movements, and like that of Jesus and His disciples, the Pilgrims of the Mayflower were young people, and a tragic fact is that within a year of their coming to New England half of the 102 died.

A glorious fact is that, despite all the perils and hardships, when the survivors had a chance to return to England not one went back. In the Boston area, where I have lived for many years, the chief interest and excitement recently has been concerned with the coming to Plymouth of the original Mayflower, which, after a summer on exhibition in New York, will be returned to Plymouth for a permanent berth to commemorate and restore something of the original coming of the Pilgrims.

One would not detract from the glory of this enterprise, or from the achievement of Captain Villiers and his crew in bringing the little ship across the Atlantic.

But the most important emphasis has for the most part been lacking. The greatness and importance of the original Mayflower was not the ship, nor the captain nor the crew — it was in the passengers.

What was that faith and fellowship that made those Pilgrims first leave their native England for Leyden in Holland, and then risk the perils of ocean and a hostile shore that they might still be Englishmen?

It was simply a belief that there could be religious faith and fellowship through direct contact with Christ and the New Testament, without the intermediary or authority of either Pope or King.

He did harry them as exiles to Holland, but they were Englishmen as well as Christians, and they sought to bring up their families as Englishmen.

The deep spiritual significance of the Plymouth Pilgrims was the directness of their approach to Jesus and the New Testament. They were independent in this respect, in contrast with the Puritans, who were not opposed to a state church, and whose association with church and state brought persecution against Quakers and Baptists.

Trends today toward greatness and size and mergers are as evident in the churches as in other areas. Such trends are good insofar as they eliminate narrow and sectarian divisions, but they tend toward overemphasis upon authority and official control.

What the Plymouth Pilgrims emphasized is that the true church of Christ does not consist in size or authority, but that where two or three are gathered together with Christ in the midst there is the element of a true Christian church.

Bargains for Housewives This Weekend

By The Associated Press

What's cooking for Sunday dinner?

Housewives shopping around for bargains will find a somewhat wider variety of meats available this weekend. Here's a sampling: Tom turkeys, smoked hams, pork chops and beef liver.

For the small family, some chains are offering freshly killed Bellsville turkeys at promotional prices. The birds range from four to eight pounds in weight.

About the best you can say about the choicer cuts of beef is that prices, for the time being anyway, have at least stopped going higher. But, market specialists say, there's still no downturn in sight.

Egg prices, which headed skyward a week or so ago, are still climbing. It's the same old story: Hens lay fewer eggs when the weather is hot and the eggs have a tendency to deteriorate faster.

Supplies have been lightened further by the action of many poultry farmers who have reduced the size of their flocks — a strategy decided upon some months ago when eggs were in great abundance and prices were low.

To go along with the meat course, you'll find these summer favorites — tomatoes and corn — in plentiful supply in most parts of the country this week. Also classed as good buys are squash, cabbage, potatoes, carrots, onion, celery and bunched or topped beets.

For desert you can tempt family appetites with watermelon, blueberries, peaches or pears. Bartlett pears from California are reaching local markets in quantities to each big city market in greater quantity, along with cherries from Washington and Oregon.
